WHAT IS A FINAL PUBLISHED ARTICLE?

Please see options available for non-profit and non-commercial use below.

To learn more about license types, and how they influence your uses please visit the following link: http://creativecommons.org/licenses/

WHAT IS A FINAL PEER-REVIEWED MANUSCRIPT?

Please refer to your Copyright Transfer Agreement before applying to use content in a new source.

Lippincott Policy

WHAT CAN YOU USE YOUR FINAL PEER-REVIEWED MANUSCRIPT FOR?

Click here for a printable document

Copyright © 2017 Wolters Kluwer Health, Inc. | All rights reserved. | Updated January 2018

Please refer to your Copyright Transfer Agreement before applying to use content in a new source.

“Lippincott will permit the author to deposit a final peer-reviewed manuscript in the personal archives, university’s institutional repository or academic department’s personal archives, for non-commercial, non-profit purposes. This peer-reviewed manuscript may not be updated or replaced with a proof of the final article. The final peer-reviewed manuscript must appear alongside the following notice: "This is a constitutional version of an article published in final form in [provide complete journal citation]." Upon NIH request, it remains the legal responsibility of the author to confer with NIH for permission to disclose information for purposes of deposit. Author may not deposit articles elsewhere. The final peer-reviewed manuscript already translated into NIH may not be altered and to be learned. In case NIH Public Access Policy prohibits posting articles and portions of articles on social networking websites. To learn more about options available for sharing your article in the Lippincott Portfolio, please visit: http://www.howcanishareit.com/